Major oil conference soon

THE seventh meeting of the International Petroleum and Gas Conference and Exhibition is due to be held in Cairo between November 24 and 26.

Representatives of multi-national petroleum organisations will attend. The conference has adopted the slogan, "Building a Sustainable Future". It will be held under the auspices of the Ministry of Petroleum. "The conference will discuss different technical and economic issues related to the petroleum and the petrochemical and gas sectors," an official at the International Gas Union, an international association that seeks to promote technical and economic progress in the gas industry, said.
