AlMarasem Development launches its latest real estate project – Capital Gate - in Egypt

AlMarasem Development announced the launch of its new project, Capital Gate, during its "AlMarasem's World" press conference, held last month. The project spans an area of 97 acres in New Cairo, at the intersection of the Middle Ring Road and the southern axis linking New Cairo to Egypt's new administrative capital. The project's name is therefore synonymous with its strategic location. The press conference also showcased the company's achievements over the past 20 years and the vision that characterizes its Egyptian real estate market presence.

AlMarasem announced that the projected investments for its three main real estate development projects in Egypt will reach EGP 32 billion. These projects offer a wide range of exclusive services and amenities including unique international designs and distinctive finishes that meet international standards of luxury. Projects will also encompass a shopping mall, family entertainment services, hypermarkets, nurseries, specialized medical clinics, swimming pools including a giant swimming pool with sandy beaches, green spaces and water bodies.
