EGYPS 2018, Egypt and North Africa's largest oil & gas industry platform, encourages participants to leverage strategic collaborative opportunities

In its second annual edition, Egypt Petroleum Show (EGYPS 2018) is set to bring together the region's key stakeholders, shaping the energy industry's future, to showcase their plans, gain unique sights and leverage exceptional collaboration opportunities. This year's exhibition will host 12 international country pavilions including Bahrain, China, France, Germany, Italy, Norway, Russia, Scotland, South Korea, UAE, UK and USA. EGYPS 2018 will also feature four dedicated conference tracks—Strategic, Technical, Women In Energy, and the new Security In Energy—hosting over 150 expert speakers and more than 1,000 conference delegates. The two-day strategic conference will host global business leaders discussing key industry topics to support global progress, develop international frameworks and foster growth through strategic partnerships focusing on the shifting dynamics of global trade markets and emerging North African and Mediterranean energy hubs for product export and transit.
