

MPs: New legislation to toughen drug counterfeiting penalty

Some lawmakers said they would propose new legislation that toughens penalties for the counterfeiting of medications. The head of the Parliamentary Proposals and Complaints Committee said criminal penalties for drug counterfeiting could reach life imprisonment or even capital punishment.