

Finance ministry secures funds for the launch of the universal healthcare system

The finance minister has said that the universal healthcare coverage plan will be rolled out sometime this year. The new scheme is obligatory and provides coverage for all family members. Tobacco taxes, road tolls, driver license fees, hospital license charges, and membership subscriptions are among sources that will be used to fund the system.