

Universal healthcare authority: Fees to be collected after launching e-network for the system's sub-agencies

The universal healthcare authority will start collecting service fees after launching an electronic network that links all the system's sub-agencies at the end of December 2019. The new network will allow different agencies to access patients' data anytime and anywhere.