

250,000 Egyptians suffer strokes annually (Al Ahaaly, May 15)

Every year, more than 250,000 people in Egypt experience a stroke, according to Rasha El Kabany, a professor of neuropsychology at Menofia University. She underscored the importance of offering treatment in the first few hours after a stroke to increase the survival rate.