

Human rights council discusses universal healthcare law

The National Council for Human Rights held a seminar on healthcare and human rights. The seminar discussed ways of improving access to healthcare services and the planned universal healthcare system.