

MPs propose cutting firms' financial contribution to universal healthcare system

As many as 61 lawmakers have proposed reducing businesses' financial contribution to the universal healthcare system to 1-1.5% of net profit, instead of 0.25% of their annual revenues according to the current law. The proposal was referred to the parliamentary health and budget committees for further discussion.