

Health care experts, patients take part in first hematology forum

The first scientific hematology forum was held on December 26, 2019, to celebrate the tenth anniversary of cooperation between the Egyptian Ministry of Health's Health Insurance Organization and Novartis Pharma in hematology treatment. The forum brought together representatives from the Health Insurance Organization and the Ministry of Health, along with top hematologists to discuss the causes and genetic factors of blood diseases, and the latest treatments available.
