

World Bank hails Egypt's universal healthcare scheme

A World Bank delegation has praised the newly launched universal healthcare system. The delegation visited Port Said to follow up on the ongoing pilot run of the new scheme, hailing the health ministry's adoption of digital solutions to maintain patient records.