

Pharmacy chains behind surge in counterfeit, smuggled drug trade

Pharmacy chains have been accused of being behind the booming industry of smuggled medications. Establishing a network of drugstores is illegal, according to the Pharmacists' Syndicate. The size of the smuggled drug market ranges from 15% to 20%.