

MoH: Mental healthcare to be integrated into universal healthcare system

The health ministry will implement a program to integrate mental healthcare into primary healthcare services provided by the universal healthcare system. The program aims at detecting mental health disorders at early stages and improving access to mental healthcare. The ministry has launched training programs for primary care practitioners in Port Said, where the universal healthcare system will be first introduced.