

Pharmacists' Syndicate calls for ceftriaxone ban

The Pharmacists' Syndicate has asked pharmacies to avoid providing ceftriaxone injections to patients due to potential life-threatening allergic reactions to the drug. The syndicate said it sent a letter to the Prime Minister to inform him about recent ceftriaxone-related deaths.