

Pharmacies turn down ceftriaxone allergy test requests

Patients have complained that pharmacies refuse to carry out allergy tests for ceftriaxone injections. The move was prompted by the Pharmacists' Syndicate's warning of potential life-threatening allergic reactions to the antibiotic.