

Drug prices increases spark crisis

Many chronic disease patients have rushed to pharmacies to buy medications amid price hike rumors. The Pharmacists' Syndicate head said he backs reforms to cut the losses incurred by state-owned drug companies, but indicated he is not in favor of raising drug prices.