

Novartis and the Breast Cancer Foundation of Egypt announce the results of the metastatic breast cancer survey “Count Us”

The survey aimed to identify the problems and concerns of metastatic breast cancer patients. As many as 381 breast cancer patients from 7 countries including Saudi Arabia, India, Singapore, and Switzerland took part in the survey. 67% of the 58 Egyptian patients who participated in the study say they generally feel that no one understands what they are going through, and over 45% of them feel isolated.
