

New drug to control harmful cholesterol

Sanofi has launched its cholesterol-lowering drug Alirocumab in Egypt. Alirocumab is injected once every two weeks to cut low-density lipoprotein (LDL) levels, to protect heart patients against strokes and heart attacks.