

Finance minister: Sustainable financing key to success of universal health coverage

Securing sustainable financing is crucial to achieving universal health coverage, said Finance Minister Mohamed Maait, adding that an actuarial study was made to ensure that sufficient financial resources will support the full functioning of the universal healthcare system. Maait said the main role of the financing authority is to secure sufficient financing and fair pricing of the services offered.