

Finance ministry considers amending universal healthcare law

The finance ministry is looking into amending the universal healthcare law, specifically the act on businesses' 0.25% contribution to the new system. The Federation of Egyptian Industries had demanded that the contribution be deducted from companies' net profits, instead of their revenues as stipulated by current legislation.