

Universal healthcare system authority's organizational structure finalized

The Central Agency for Organization and Administration has finalized the organizational structure of the universal healthcare authority. The universal healthcare system will have three regulatory bodies: the general authority for universal healthcare, the general authority for healthcare, and the general authority for health accreditation and supervision.