

Prices of 200 drugs raised since January (Al Ahaaly, October 9)

Pharmaceutical companies have raised the prices of more than 150 medications since January 2019, according to the Egyptian Center for the Right to Medicine' top official, Mohamed Fouad, who argued that most of the price increases were unfair and unjustifiable, predicting that the government would liberalize medication prices soon.