

New ways to manage migraines

Recently, the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has approved a new category of migraine medications, known as anti-CGRP antibodies, like Aimovig. These drugs counteract the effect of the calcitonin gene-related peptide (CGRP), a chemical your body naturally produces that, among other things, causes migraine.