

New drug brings hope to 20 mn erectile dysfunction patients in Egypt

An Egyptian drugmaker has launched a new erectile dysfunction medication, bringing hope to about 20 million patients in Egypt. Researchers have found that taking 25% of the new medication's dosage on a daily basis helps offer long-term erectile dysfunction relief.