

Accreditation criteria for universal healthcare system hospitals established

As many as 30 accreditation requirements were established for the universal healthcare system's medical facilities, including hospitals, primary care units, radiology centers, and medical laboratories. Registration standards for pharmacies, private clinics, and rehabilitation and physiotherapy centers will be announced in early September.