

Germany approves Egyptian osteoarthritis drug

Germany's drug regulatory authority approved an Egyptian-made drug that contains genuphil for the treatment of osteoarthritis. The drug helps stop the progression of osteoarthritis and potentially reverses the process. It also has anti-inflammatory properties.