

MoH approves 1st drug for osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis

The health ministry approved Anselacox, the first Egyptian drug for the treatment of osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis. Anselacox is an anti-inflammatory drug that is used to manage the symptoms of joint pain and swelling that accompany osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis which are common in people over 45 years of age.